Connect ...

From a LinkedIn repost... to investing in AI's next frontier.

A few months ago, Yann LeCun reposted two of my posts about open source. I couldn't have imagined it would spark a conversation leading somewhere so unexpected.

Today, I'm proud to share that Serena is part of AMI - Advanced Machine Intelligence's $1B+ seed round.

AI models are hitting a wall when it comes to human-level intelligence.

LLMs are remarkable at manipulating language, text, code. Yet as Yann LeCun has long argued: "A stray cat has far greater intelligence than ChatGPT."

This is the Moravec's paradox: what is easiest for humans — perception, intuition, interaction with the physical world — remains the hardest problem for machines.

World models could be the key step forward: a massive scientific opportunity to build machines that actually understand the world around them.

Building beyond LLMs is a gigantic mission requiring extraordinary talent, conviction, and resources. Yann has assembled a world-class team — Alex LeBrun, Saining Xie, Laurent Solly, Pascale Fung, Michael Rabbat, Léopold Treppoz, and many others — to push this frontier.

Huge congratulations to the entire AMI team on their $1B+ round led by Cathay Innovation, Greycroft, Hiro Capital, alongside great names including NVIDIA, Bezos Expeditions, Alpha Intelligence Capital, Eurazeo, HV Capital, daphni, Xavier Niel, AGLAÉ VENTURES, Drysdale Ventures and Headline.

Supporting this kind of ambition in Europe is exactly what Serena is about.

The stray cat problem just got a $1B+ answer.

Long live AMI, and long live open source.
